

Abstract

An improved method to treat conditions of the eye characterized by ocular neovascularization is provided in which patients are given an initial photodynamic therapy (PDT) treatment to destroy the neovasculature, and then are re-evaluated at least twice during the following 6 months, and retreated as necessary. Preferably, three retreatments are provided.

10072215.020602